Secretary of State, died in Paris

The river and harbor bill passed by Congress, provides for a survey of Green, Rough and Warren rivers and harbors at Chesapeake, Paduch and other Kentucky towns.

The school bill recently adopted by the Legislature, has some good features in it, one in particular, the enlargement of the school fund. It is doubtless some objectionable features, but as a whole, so far as we have learned, we approve of its passage. When we get the bill as approved, we will publish it.

The stock company, which will start the new paper in this city to be called the Impartial, have bought the job printing office of C. P. Kendall & Co., and will add to it sufficient space for the publication of the paper.

Messrs. John L. McFarland and Geo.

P. Hayes will be the editors, and Mr.

P. Hayes will take charge of the office next Monday. Mr. Kendall will be their foreman. The first issue of the paper will appear about the first of June.

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL CURE

ST. LOUIS, MO., FEBRUARY 11, 1906.

Dr. Wintersmith:

SIR: I want to note I have elsewhere many times the value of your remedy for chills and fever, and I have received all the time as good results. I have never seen a case of chills and fever which I could not cure with your excellent medicine. Mr. R. W. Wintersmith, who has been a chills and fever sufferer for many years, has induced me to test it in my family. The have been mainly satisfied. I have been in the past year's standing, in fact I believe you really had been tried with temper-ment, that this has been a moderately and more substantial success. As you look, this and there has been an acceptance of the more than six months. The other case would be from a child more readily members, but the child will remain and will your teaching was used even when now several months, they have entirely dis-from the age group. I have had a larger because of that year I believe is valuable aspect, and performs all your best. Very respectfully,
